CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

"And it will come upon the bank thereof shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issued out of the sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine."—Ezekiel xlvii. 12.

We have used up for the sick recorded long ago, and every day adds new proof to the assurance that this ancient prediction will be fulfilled.

As the chief Science's discoveries and designs are therein prophesied as given, one by one, the diseases that for ages yield to the control of art. Of all the maladies under the sun, none are carried more victims to an untimely grave than Consumption of the Lungs. Scarcely two give some confidence that this can only be cured and that by using in all their forms, internally as well as outwardly, Cherry Pectoral.

Space forbids us to publish here and proper names of the cures it has effected, but the Agent below named will furnish our Circular, free, wherein are full particulars, with indubitable proof of these facts.

Sufferers read and judge for yourselves.

For CONSUMPTION & WHOOPING COUGH.

Hartford, Tenn., June 25th, 1851.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.—Gentlemen: I have repeatedly used your Cherry Pectoral for Whooping Cough and Influenza, and have no hesitation in recommending it as a complete remedy. Four of my children have been afflicted with these diseases, and the use of the Pectoral has always afforded almost instant relief. JAMES GLOVER.

We notice the truth of the above statement.—M. McKinney, Editor of the Nashville Whig.—J. M. Zimmerman, Druggist.

FOR A CONSUMPTIVE COUGH.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 26, 1851.

Dear Sir:—For three years I have been afflicted with a Cough, so distressing that I frequently dreaded of nights, lest before the time I was able to get up, my cough would suffocate me. I tried many remedies without relief, at last tried the CHERRY PECTORAL, which under Providence has cured me altogether.

I am with gratitude yours,

JAMES M. CANDLESS.

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF AMHERST COLLEGE.

EAST HADDAM SCHOOL, Jan. 21, 1851.

DR. AYER, Sir: I have used your CHERRY PECTORAL in my own case of deep-seated bronchitis, and have found, from its chemical constitution, that it is a most valuable compound for the relief of laryngial and bronchial troubles. If my opinion as to its superior virtues can be of any service, you are at liberty to make what use of it you please. EDWARD HITCHCOCK.

Amherst, Sept. 12, 1849.

Among the other distinguished authorities who have added their names to recommend this preparation of the Cherry to the public for affections of the lungs, are:

Prof. Perkins, Vermont Med. College,
" Stallman, Yale College,
" Valentine Mott, New York,
Prof. Chesselden, Bowdoin Med. College,
Prof. Butterfield, Ohio Med. College,
Dana's Journal of Medical Science,

WHIG NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

William G. Crosby

OF BELFAST.

FOR CONGRESS,

ISRAEL WASHBURN, JR.

of Lewiston.

after resting and breathing a little, now took a fresh start to come up. At that time we hitched on again, and determined if possible to shove him over this time. We whipped and spurred, and pulled, and pushed, and hollered, and screamed, and the team trailed well. The old ox-bows treaked, and we began to think we should reach the top. But when we got about two-thirds the way up, the team got stuck again; and though it took eight or ten smart pulls after this, it didn't get any higher, but every time backed down a little.

It was pretty clear after this that it was a gone goose with the Old Fogies. We hadn't no hopes of em any longer. If the Case and Buchanan teams could a been hitched together, they would a walked over the hill as easy as a cat could lick her ear. But there was so much quarrelling among the drivers that this couldn't be done.—Every driver was proud of his own team, and would stick to it and have nothing to do with tother. The Virginny delegation went out a good many times to consider of it, and make up their minds, and every time they come in they matched right up and took their stand by the Buchanan team. They stuck to that team without flinching, for thirty-three steady pulls; and for the last ten or fifteen pulls I couldn't think of nothing else but "old Virginny never tire." But there was a good many others stuck it out full as long, and some a good deal longer, than old Virginny before they gin up. We tried a few pulls with the Marcy team, and a few with the Butler team, but it was no go. We became satisfied there wasn't an Old Fogy in the field, who could ever reach the top of the hill.—We began to look round now to see how Young America was getting along.

The Douglas team was made up mostly of young steers; and it was a pretty active team, well trained, and pulled well. But it wasn't equal to the Old Fogies for a heavy pull. It hadn't so much bone and sinew and, wind and bottom. Howsomever, it made a pretty good scratch on it, and kept gaining gradually up the hill; so we thought we would take hold and give Young America a boost, and see if we couldn't get a candidate that way. To tell the truth, we began to feel rather streaked for fear we shouldn't get a candidate at all, and felt willing to hitch on to most anything. But the best we could do with Young America, we couldn't get only about half way up the hill before the steers begun to back down again, and we see 'twas no use, they couldn't come it. Well, then we was all in a fix. We couldn't see no other chance; we'd got to go without a President because we couldn't nominate a candidate. One of the members actually fainted away here, and all of us felt a good deal worse except and down in the mouth. But old Virginny never tire," and when we was all hitching on round for the thirty-fifth pull, old Virginny marched into the field with a bran new team. Everybody stared, and cried out, What team is that? What team is that? And when they heard the answer, "The Franklin Pierce team, of New Hampshire," they couldn't hardly believe their own ears. But it was a fact, and, Virginny drove that new team one pull all alone. Then one of two others hitched on with her and tried eight or ten steady pulls. All of us looked on and watched the working of that new team. At last folks began to make up their minds that that was the team to pull and straighten out the Democratic track; and with proper help it might be got over the hill. Old North Carolina hitched on, and Georgia hitched on, and Tennessee hitched on, and by-and-by three was a general race all over the field to see who should hitch on first. It didn't make no odds who Old Hunkers and Barnburners, and Free Soilers and Abolition, and Union and Secession, and State-Rights, and Old Fogies and Young America all was hollering, Clear and hitched on to the Pierce team. That team I tell ye went up the hill like smoke. Some of the States run till they was almost out of breath, for fear they shouldn't hitch on before the team got to the top of the hill. But they all made out to hook on, and every State was in at the death" and ready to join in the general hoo-rah.

After that we hadn't no more difficulty; every thing went as regular as clock-work. The master told us we had read and spelt well, and we might all go out till four o'clock. So we went out and took a little bout of a spree, and then come in and took hold and worked together just like brothers, and hauled Mr King right up to the top of the hill in two pulls, and made him Vice President.

Then the committee brought in the new platform, and we all danced to it. In the crowd and confusion we couldn't see what it was made on, but we was told it went again the Bank, and again the Tariff, and again Internal Improvement, and was a first rate platform; so we all jumped on and said it couldn't be no better.

P. S. I've telegraphed to General Pierce to save the Downingville Post Office for you; as you may feel easy on that score.

I remain your loving nephew,

Marion Jane Downing.

THE MOSQUITO KING.—A correspondent of the Worcester Transcript gives the following anecdote of the puppet whom the British government has invested with the dignity of royalty:

"While speaking of the Mosquitos, a little incident happened a short time ago at Belize.—The English sent up and brought down the said to be, Mosquito King, and received him with all honors. The King was all dressed up in a military undress suit, and those of his suite clothed in plain dress. The first wish of his royal highness, which was of course supplied on the moment, was, for a bottle of brandy, which he and suite drank in true republican style, passing the bottle from mouth to mouth until it was emptied. Another soon followed, and in a short time the King and suite were gloriously inebriated, and not being used to wear such clothes, flung a shirt, quickly rid themselves of the troublesome vestments imposed upon them and appeared in native costume. Finally, after getting beastly drunk, it was found necessary to confine his royal highness with ignominious ropes, and laid at full length in the bottom of a bungo, he was sent to his palace, which was a mud hut covered with straw, and having a ground floor. They say hero very appropriately, 'Rectiberon como rey y despideron como chapeto,'—which means, 'they received him like a king but dismissed him like a dog.' So much for the king of the Mosquitos."

GOLD IN SCOTLAND. A private letter from Alloa, Scotland, to a person in Toronto, states that discoveries of gold have recently been made in the Ochill Hills, and that hundreds of the work people of the manufacturing towns on the Forth have deserted their business to search for the precious metal. A specimen accompanied the letter, which has been shown to us. We believe that there is no doubt that gold is to be found in these hills, since many years ago no less than $80,000 in value was taken from them by one proprietor. There is great doubt, however, whether it exists in such quantities as to be profitably sought, since the fifty thousand once eighty thousand pounds worth of labor.—Toronto Globe.

THE VALUE CAN RETURN. An advertisement signed by Mrs. Myra Clarke Gaines, has appeared in one of the New Orleans papers, under date of May 18th, 1852, giving notice that she is about to commence proceedings in the Probate Court of that city for the recovery of the estate of her father, the late Daniel Clarke, under the devised made by him in 1813 bequeathing her as his illegitimate and only daughter "this universal devise and warning all persons from purchasing any portion of the said estate, or from acquiring title under the pretended holders or pupilators."

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 16.

SENATE. The Chair presented a report from the Secretary of the Treasury, in answer to the resolution relative to selling land near Florida.

Mr. Bright introduced a bill granting increased compensation to the Assistant Postmaster General, &c.

Mr. Sumner offered a resolution as to the expediency of exempting vessels driven by storm, &c., from the navigation laws. The resolution was adopted.

The Chair laid before the Senate a report of the Secretary of the Treasury, in reply to a resolution calling for information relative to the practicability and probable cost of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Florida.

Mr. Seward presented resolutions of the Chamber of Commerce of New York in favor of the inland trade with the British provinces, the joint enjoyment of the fisheries and the free navigation of the St. Lawrence river.

Numerous petitions in favor of the homestead bill were presented.

Mr. Seward's resolution providing for the selection of a special committee of three to inquire into the expediency of purchasing Catlin's Indian collection was taken up and adopted.

The bill granting further remedies to pensioners was taken up.

Mr. Borland opposed the bill.

Mr. Underwood replied.

The debate on the bill giving further remedies to pensioners was continued till 3 o'clock by Messrs. Underwood, Miller, Pearce, Dodge and Upham in favor of the bill, and by Messrs. Borland, Butler, Bayard, Hunter, Fetch and Gwin in opposition. Mr. Gwin moved to recommit the bill to the Select committee—lost—Ayes 6, nays 34—a quorum voted.

Mr. Walker moved a call of the Senate. The chair said such a motion was unknown to the rules of the Senate.

Mr. Borland moved an adjournment—agreed to, ayes 32, nays 7. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Adams of La., entered into a personal explanation, called for by some remarks made by Mr. Stanly on Saturday. Mr. Moore said, as an honorable man and a Whig he would say that a few of Mr. Fillmore's friends from the North and South, and from the West, did occasionally assemble privately. He felt the honor of being a Committee of three present, and therefore ought to know what transpired on them. He stated more emphatically that the object of those meetings was not to get up a third party, as was charged, but to choose it as the most fair and honorable means to secure the nomination of Mr. Fillmore at Baltimore. He stated that the latter object was to harmonize the party and establish such principles on such a platform that all the Whigs of the North and the South could unite upon it. He admitted that he retired from the confessional jealous as an early hour, being disgusted with its secrecy and opposed to connection with Romanism.

Mr. Stanly was willing to say, Stevens all that he had expected on experiments, &c. He did not think the work ought to be progressed any further. He said Stevens had refused to furnish any plan of his vessel. It was unfair and with proof, and it was necessary that the Department should furnish it before it.

Mr. Stockton said a plan was furnished the Department when the contract was made.

Mr. Hunter said he was informed that the gun invented by the Soldier from New Jersey has sent a ball through the side of a ship at sea.

Mr. Stockton said he was willing to amend the resolution so as to provide that the war steamer should be tried against any that or shall now exist in the Navy.

Mr. Seward followed in defence of the work, and urged the importance of defending the harbor of New York.

Messrs. Stuart, Ives and Hunter continued the debate.

Mr. Mallory warmly advocated the passage of the resolution. He thought the money to be appropriated, could not be better used than in testing the grand proposition of applying our furnaces with a floating defence, which cannot be destroyed by bombs or shells.

Mr. Young followed, contending that the government was bound in good faith to carry out the contract.

Mr. Davis supported the resolution, and opposed abandonment of the work at this day.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted by yeas 96, nays 57—as follows:

Mr. Beale then reported a bill authorizing a contract to carry the mail between some southern port of the United States and the port of Para, touching at Porto Rico or such of the West India Islands or Brazilian ports as may be most convenient, for the period of ten years to those of the Gulf of Lima. Compensation to be left blank in the bill.

The House bill providing additional penalties for arson in the District of Columbia, was taken up and passed, and the Senate adjourned till Saturday.

HOUSE.—It was agreed that the House adjourn on Friday next, and be until Friday next in order to give the members an opportunity to attend the National Whig Convention. The consideration of the bill granting pre-emption rights to settlers along the line of the Cass Railroad, was then resumed. Mr. Hall briefly explained the bill, which, on motion, was laid on the table, by yeas 93, nays 71—Mr. Grinnell voting in the affirmative. The bill granting lands to the State for railroad purposes was taken up. A debate ensued, when various motions were made.

Mr. Stevens, of Ga., moved that the House adjourn. Carried—72 against 67. Pending a motion to lay the bill on the table, the pending bill retained.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President of the United States, on the subject of disorders on the Rio Grande, and recommending legislation to enable him to carry out the treaty with Mexico, which was referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Walker moved a call of the House. The chair said such a motion was unknown to the rules of the House.

Mr. Boland moved an adjournment—agreed to, ayes 102, nays 72. Adjourned.

Gen. Pierce and the Right of Petition.

Gen. Pierce voted, when in Congress, to respect the right of petition.

He took the same ground with John Quincy Adams in regard to Slavery in the District—petitions.—New York Evening Post.

This is the statement of Gen. Pierce's "Free Soil" friends. And here is its answer from the official records of the House of Representatives.

On Monday, the 26th of December, 1836, John Quincy Adams presented a petition for the abolition of slavery and the slave trade in the District of Columbia. It was moved to lay it on the table. The motion was adopted by a vote of 116 ayes to 88 noes. First in the list of noes after in the name of John Quincy Adams, and prominent among those is the name of Franklin Pierce!

On the 9th of January, 1837, 228 women of South Weymouth asked the privilege of petitioning Congress in regard to slavery. Their prayer was refused by a vote of 150 to 50. Among those who voted to grant it was John Quincy Adams; among those who rejected it was Franklin Pierce!

The next day the enemies of the Right of Petition grew bolden. John W. Davis moved to suspend the rules, in order to pass a resolution not to receive any petitions upon the subject of slavery. It failed, not because there was not a majority for it, but because two-thirds were required, and the vote stood 102 to 79. One of the 79 was John Quincy Adams, and one of the 102 was Franklin Pierce.

But on the 18th of the same month Mr. Hawes offered a resolve, which ran as follows:

Resolved, That all petitions, memorials, resolutions, propositions or papers, relating in any way, or to any extent, to the subject of Slavery, or to the abolition of Slavery, shall, without being printed or referred, be laid on the table, and NO FURTHER ACTION WHATEVER THEREON.

The record shows that, previous to its passage, Mr. Adams was among its strongest opponents, and Pierce among its warmest supporters. It was passed by 129 to 69; John Quincy Adams voting no, and Franklin Pierce voting aye!

Thus is the candidate whom the "Free Soilers" of 1848 and Barnburners of 1852 are now supporting, and whom they pronounce eminently qualified by the principles and acts of his past life for the Presidency of the United States!—Albany Evening Journal.

The Mormons.

Accounts from Deseret to May 1st, have been received. The seventh General Epistle of the Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints from Great Salt Lake Valley, to the Saints scattered throughout the earth, was issued April 18. It gives a general view of the condition of the church since last September. Some paragraphs from this document are not without interest.

"It is contemplated that we shall be ready to commence the temple next Spring, and that forts and other preparations will be made ready the present season on the Temple Block; but cash will be wanted from all who have, to purchase such articles as demand cash, and such as cannot be produced in the Valley. We trust they will continue in good works, and others follow their example.

Besides the Deseret Pottery in this city, another is open at Provo, in Utah county, and another is expected to commence this summer at Fillmore, in Millard county. A machine for manufacturing combs is nearly ready for operation. There is a [illegible] factory in operation in Iron county, another in San Pete, and another building in this city. Building have been materially hindered for want of nails, hitherto, which we trust will soon be prevented by the use of domestic machinery. Most of the principal settlements are comfortably supplied with flouring mills, and where there is a deficiency, mills are building. The number of saw mills is increasing. The country is supplied with woollen bowls from a factory at Provo.

Tanneries have been commenced at most of the principal settlements, and at some two or three, and after another season for peeling bark, the prospects will be good for a supply of domestic leather.

The iron ore at Coal Creek, in Iron county, has been tested, and proved to be of the most excellent quality, though but little has been done for want of coal, an abundance of which is on the mountain near by, but inaccessible to teams until a road can be made, for which there have been some public appropriations.

There has been very little cash in circulation among us the past year, it having been previously expended in foreign goods, which was necessary for our comfort, but of late, the want of cash to purchase importations has induced the people to enter into domestic manufacture as fast as possible. A small woollen factory in this valley, commenced last year, is expected to go into operation about midsummer, and another in Utah Valley, will be ready for this year's wool. Many hand wheels and looms have been in operation, in families, and several thousand yards of cloth have been manufactured, besides carpets, mits, stockings, &c.

It closes with the following advice to the Saints:

And now, brethren, having given you a brief history of the Church in the valley, which is altogether more prosperous than we could hitherto communicate, we have a word of counsel, which we hope you will give heed to, that you may become partakers of the rich blessings of Ephraim with us. And first, as far as possible, live in peace with all men, even as our last conference agreed to cease all contentions and lawsuits; one with another; and, if possible, with all men; when you are sick call for the elders, who will pray for you, anointing with oil, and the laying on of hands; and nurse them, either with herbs and mild food; and if you do these things in faith, and quit taking poisons and poisonous medicines, which God never ordained for the use of men, you shall be blessed.

Sustain the government of the nation wherever you are, and speak well of it, for this is right, and the government has a right to expect it of you, so long as that government sustains you in our civil and religious liberty in those rights which inherently belong to every person born on the face of the earth, and if you are persecuted in your native land, and denied the privileges of worshiping the true God in spirit and in truth, flee to the land of Zion, to Ameriga, to the United States, where Constitutional rights and freedom are not surpassed by any nation, where God saw fit in these last days, to renew the dispensation of salvation, by revelations from the heavens, and where all, by the Constitution and laws of the land, when executed in righteousness, are protected in all the civil and religious freedom that man is capable of enjoying on earth, and our national institutions will never fail, unless it be through the wickedness of the people, and the designs of evil men in behalf authority, for these rights were ordained of God on this land for the establishment of the principles of truth on the earth; and our nation in organization originated in the heavens."

AN IRISH SCHEME. An Irish writer who would establish a code of laws for the government of Ireland, proposes seven months imprisonment with hard labor for the first offence, and transportation for life for the second offence, in the case of any man who should be found guilty of having a wife and a sweetheart at the same time.

Baltimore Convention.

BALTIMORE, June 16.

The Hon. Jno. G. Chapman of Maryland, was chosen President of the Convention.

THE CONVENTION YESTERDAY.

BALTIMORE, June 17 th.

Scott stock has taken a sudden turn and is apparently advancing. His friends are in fine spirits, and say they will cheerfully adopt the platform of the Southern States, including the Compromise, Fugitive Slave Law and all. Should this prove the case, the platform will be easily carried. His friends further say that they will want but 15 votes to secure his nomination on the first ballot. The Convention was called to order, at 12 o'clock. Discussion on the platform. There will probably be no nomination until Saturday.

In the Convention, Duncan of La., offered resolutions that the Convention will not ballot for candidates until a platform be established which was adopted, ayes 165 nays 97.

Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Michigan voted aye. An amendment was proposed that the Committee on a platform cast a vote each State is entitled in the Electoral College—adopted, ayes 150, nays 143.

The President decided that Fillmore contestants were entitled to a seat, but not a vote.

Hon. A. G. Jewett in the field.

At a Democratic Ratification Meeting held in Belfast last Saturday evening, Hon. Albert G. Jewett, whilom a citizen of Bangor, and President Polk's Charge to Peru, was called upon for a speech. He had come as a listener merely, but he could not help congratulating the democracy upon their excellent nomination &c. He closed with the following characteristic remarks. We copy from the Signal:—

"Mr. Jewett exhorted, with much vehemence, to unanimity in the support of General Pierce. The discords among the party would prove the ruin of it. They should be healed up, and the party should unite in subduing the common enemy.—He came down on woolly heads in the severest terms. We presume he was ignorant of the tendencies, of the supporters of Gov. Hubbard, or while urging harmony and concord, he would not have made remarks which implied so severe censure of Hamlin Smart, and all that ilk. In conclusion, Mr. Jewett, assuming the attitude of Goliath of Gath, brandishing his chapeau in one hand and the clenched fist in the other, in illustration of the manner in which the Democracy should make the onset upon the Whigs, exclaimed, let us unite the scattered fragments of our party, let us trample aiggerism and all kinds of isms in the black mire from which they have arisen, and go to heaven or to hell together!"

A SOUTHERNER ON BOSTON. Somebody writing from New Orleans to the New York Times, pays the following compliment to Boston. Doubtless it would be agreeable to him to find Southern manners more extensively copied in Boston than they are. It is hoped that, however, the Bostonians may desire to harmonize with the South, they will not spo any people.

"As a Southern man, I must confess I love Boston. I love it for its being the birth-place of American liberty, and if it were possible, I might love it more if its people would only quit using the English. There is too much of it; and for Yankees it ought to it go again the grain. It don't look well but if they must be imitators, I would rather see them copy a little after our Southern manners. The introduction of the words "hear hear," don't look or sound well, in the report of an American's speech in the land of America. It is too Blasted English and grates on the ear."

New York and San Francisco STEAMSHIP LINE.

THE NEW STEAMSHIP

UNITED STATES,

CHARLES C. BERRY, Commander,

Will leave her departure for Aspinwall, Navy Bay, on FRIDAY, 2d July at 3 P. M., connecting at Panama with the new double engine steamship WINFIELD SCOTT, 2100 tons burthen, Rooney Couillard, Commander, which steamer awaits the arrival of passengers at Panama by the United States, from New York, and immediately thereafter proceeds to San Francisco direct, without stopping at intermediate ports.

These vessels, in accommodations and sailing are not surpassed, by any on the route, and an experienced surgeon is attached to each vessel.

The United States has made the voyage between New York and Chagres in seven days nineteen hours, and the Windfield Scott performed the voyage between New York and Panama, in the shortest time on record, both as to running and actual time from port to port.

Books are now open, and passage ticket for sale. Apply to

Bangor Air-Tight COOKING STOVE

THE best Cook Stove ever introduced to this or any other people.

Having secured the sole agency of this very desirable Stove, I take great pleasure in offering it to my customers and the public. This Stove was invented expressly for this eastern market, by those experienced and expert Stove manufacturers Messrs Easton & Whittier, who know, and have appreciated the wants of this enlightened people. It is now offered to the public with the fullest confidence in its merits, and superiority over every other Cooking apparatus ever introduced. Its conveniences for Boiling, Broiling, Frying, &c., are complete, and its extensive and liberal fit for Baking and Roasting, will at once recommend itself to the Ladies. Every apparatus of this description manufactured in this city, can at all times be repaired, if ever necessary, at a trifling expense without subjecting one to wait for castings to be ordered from New York, Rhode Island, or elsewhere. Every Stove is warranted one year, and can be given entire satisfaction or may be returned and the money will be refunded after 30 days trial.

—ALSO—

A great variety of other patterns of cooking Stoves, such as the

DR. FONTAINE'S BALM OF A THOUSAND FLOWERS.

HOLLY, perfumed by the fragrance of a thousand flowers. Restores in a few minutes the faded and withered skin to its original freshness and beauty, imparting to it the purity and delicacy of infancy. Every lady will be the envy of her friends by the use of this Balm. It is the greatest luxury in the toilet ever offered to the public, and no lady of refinement can afford to be without it. Its fragrance will remain on the handkerchief for hours after using. Ladies visiting the sea shore or mountains will find it the most delightful companion in the world. Its cooling effects on the skin after exposure to the sun, wind or dust, is truly delightful. Sold at 50 cents per bottle.
